

Shows That Teach presents

H<sub>2</sub>O, Where Did You Go?

An engaging musical-comedy show about the value of water

Edu-taining thousands of students at schools, theatres, and festivals since 2005

"I want thank you for a truly outstanding performance at the Burbank Water and Power 3rd Annual Water Festival. We received many outstanding comments from the audience regarding the instructive and creative method of educating the public about the multiple water related issues we are currently facing. Kids were overheard singing those catchy tunes that were sung. It was obvious that children and adults were engaged and learning." ~ Mary Forrest, Burbank Dept. of Water and Power

Students will learn about:

- The importance of water
- How, where and why water travels
- Why we should conserve
- How to conserve water

"Our students and teachers loved it. William and Tuba were exceptional! They truly related to our students and presented the information on the water cycle and water conservation in a fun, yet informative manner. They were able to capture and hold even our youngest students' attention. I know our students will change the way they think about and use water from here on out."

~ Matt Thompson, Vice Principal, Pepper Drive School, El Cajon, California

Services we offer school assembly sponsors:

- We schedule the performances directly with the schools.
- We follow-up with each school to confirm the details.
- We furnish a professional sound system and props.
- We perform an exciting and memorable show.
- We offer the teachers post-performance activity materials which help students retain what they learned during our performance.
- We report to you the numbers of students who attend each performance.
- We encourage students to be more responsible about water.

Water district and school references available upon request.

(800) 909-0024 mark@showsthatteach.com